Message from the President

By Glen Dickard

Well, we are on our way. We have crunched numbers, called vendors, had meetings and then put it all together. Had a conference call and got the GSGRA's okay, one last call from Doug in Denver and it was done. Palm Springs got all the approvals it needed for a rodeo. Yes, we will be having a rodeo March 10th and 11th, 2007. Thanks to Al and all the people that added their thought and ideas that got us this far. Now we know that the real work will start. Stay tuned, no one knows what we will come up with.

The Chapter has done well raising money for the rodeo and the Chapter with the ongoing beer bust every third Sunday at Sidewinders, raffles and Bingo with Ann Walker. Adding to the fundraising list will be an Art Auction on October 15th. We will be selling tickets to the event and will have approximately 20 original pieces of art to be auctioned. We will be working with the Desert Aids Project on this auction, as they will mail out about 450 invitations to their top donors and people who have bought items from them at other auctions. More will be in next month's issue of the E-Chute.

July 15th the Chapter was happy to host some of the members from the Los Angeles Chapter in promoting their rodeo here in the Palm Springs area. They came to town early to attend our rodeo meeting, offering some in-site as to what we may want to do. Then later that evening as the valley cooled down to about 108 (from the high of 116,) we were off to some of the local bars. Special thanks to Delilah's, Barracks. Street Bar, Hunters and our host bar Sidewinders for letting us come in and pass out LA's flyers. We were supposed to stop at the Tool Shed, but it turned out to be yellow hanky weekend and the Los Angeles members were wearing yellow shirts. Wisely, we passed on that. But, we still want thank Chris for the okay to come to the bar. A good time was had, just a bit of whining about the heat. Remember it's a dry heat, kind of like an oven. Roz thanked us for helping them and then said "we ain't going to do it next year". I don't understand why after all it was a little cooler after the sun went down, wasn't it? Just don't ask Mike Warren for his opinion.

The Chapter is still out promoting membership. June did hit us with a large drop in membership numbers. We were aware that this was going to happen. Not that losing any member is good. But, the ones that did not renew were not being seen at any Chapter event, meeting or serving on a committee. July has seen us with getting new members and a few transfers. So, what we lost will be made up with more active members.

Good news also, from what I have heard, all our chapter members and friends in the high desert are okay. No one lost a home and all animals are doing okay. Just a lot of lost hours of sleep with fried nerves knowing that in any moment the mandatory evacuation call may be given. For our chapter members whose homes were spared, it was something to be grateful for. Not everyone was that lucky.

Message from the Secretary

By Mike Warren

One of the problems each chapter faces is how to get people from all of your coverage areas involved. San Francisco has it with Contra Costa County, Sacramento and the rest of Northern California. Los Angeles has it with Orange County, Kern County and Ventura County and all areas around Los Angeles and Santa Barbara. San Diego has the same problem from San Diego to the Arizona Border including San Diego and Imperial Counties. Palm Springs has it with Riverside, San Bernardino and Imperial County to the Arizona border.

I find that the majority of the membership for each Chapter seems centered around the Chapter's affiliated town or city. For example, most of the Palm Springs membership is in or around Palm Springs. But our area of coverage also includes the Inland Empire and the Imperial Valley deserts. While we do have a few members from these outlying areas we need to spend more time within these areas to gain new members and just let them know that our Chapters exist.

I know we are all stretched very thin. Each Chapter Officer's positions seems to be a full time job in itself leaving little time for socializing and gathering in these outlying areas.

As many Chapter Officer positions remain vacant and many of us hold more than one position, we need more members involved to help. When I come up with a way for all of this to magically come together, I will probably also have cures for cancer and HIV as well as the winning lottery numbers. In the mean time each Chapter continues to do its best and to promote their chosen charities in an effort to assist others any way we can with the time and generosity of the people involved.

The Clydesdale

The Clydesdale is a breed of heavy draft horse developed in and deriving its name from the district in Scotland where it was founded. Its type was evolved by the farmers of Lanarkshire, through which the River Clyde flows. The old name for Lanarkshire was Clydesdale.

It was bred to meet not only the agricultural needs of these farmers, but the demands of commerce for the coalfields of Lanarkshire and for all types of heavy haulage on the streets of Glasgow. The breed thus developed and soon acquired more than a local reputation. In time, the breed spread throughout the whole of Scotland and northern England.

The district system of hiring stallions was an early feature of Scottish agriculture and did much to standardize and fix the type of the breed. The records of these hiring societies go back in some cases to 1837. The Clydesdale Horse Society was formed in 1877 and has been an active force in promoting the breed not only in Great Britain but throughout the world. The Clydesdale Breeders of the United States is the member organization for the Clydesdale horse. The Association was incorporated on December 4, 1879 as the American Clydesdale Association with members from both the United States and Canada. The first volume of the stud book was ready for distribution at the fourth Annual Meeting in the fall of 1882. The Clydesdale alone, of the British breeds of heavy draft, has enjoyed a steady export trade to all parts of the world. The most active trade has been to commonwealth countries and the United States. The Clydesdale remains popular, though not a numerical leader in Canada and the United States.

Breed Characteristics

The outstanding characteristics of this renowned horse are a combination of weight, size and activity, and what is looked for first and last by a Clydesdale enthusiast is the exceptional wearing qualities of feet and limbs. The feet must be round and open with hoof heads wide and springy, for any suspicion of contraction might lead to sidebones or ringbones. To some extent, the further requirements of this breed vary somewhat from the orthodox and should be noted. The horse must have action, but not exaggerated, the inside of every shoe being made visible to anyone walking behind. The forelegs must be well under the shoulders, not carried bull-dog fashion, in fact must hang straight from shoulder to fetlock joint, with no openness at the knee, yet with no inclination to knock. The hind legs must be similar, with the points of the hocks turned inwards rather than outwards, and the pasterns must be long. Distinctive long, silky hair below the knees and hocks draw attention to the stylish lifting of the feet at the trot.

The head must have an open forehead, broad across the eyes, the front of the face must be flat, neither dished nor roman, wide muzzle, large nostrils and a bright, clear, intelligent eye. A well-arched and long neck must spring out of an oblique shoulder with high withers, while the back should be short, with well-sprung ribs, and, as befits a draught horse, the thighs must be packed with muscle and sinew. The most common colors in the Clydesdale breed are bay, black and brown. Roans (solid body color with white hairs throughout the coat) are also seen with some occasional chestnuts. White is seen on the face and legs with white often running into the body. The show ring does not discriminate on color with light roans and horses with dark legs being considered equally with horses of the more solid colors and traditional markings.

It is claimed of the Clydesdale that they are possessed of quality and weight without displaying grossness and bulk, this is largely true. They are certainly active movers for their size and weight, and in consequence, are very popular in many cities and on numerous farms. The Clydesdale generally stands from 16 to 18 hands, and weighs from 1700 to 2000 pounds. Some of the mature stallions and geldings are taller and weigh up to 2200 pounds.

Modern Clydesdale

The Clydesdale Horse is increasingly popular as a pleasure horse, playing an ever expanding role in the field of recreation. Owners of acreage, businessmen, farmers and light horse enthusiasts are ever more aware of the challenge offered in breeding, foaling, developing and training a Clydesdale. As in all breeds of livestock, the Clydesdale has gone through several changes of emphasis over the years to meet the demands of the times. In the 20s and 30s the demand was for a more compact horse; of late, it has been for a taller, hitchier horse. With the changes in size and type of horse wanted, the Clydesdale emphasis on underpinning has remained paramount.

A Big Rodeo Thank You...

A big thanks needs to go out to this year's annual Square Dance Convention titled "Wish Upon a Thar" and D J Rosa for providing the Chapter with another fundraising opportunity. Held July 1st, and at the invitation of D J Rosa, the chapter helped with the decoration to give the event more character. In the end the chapter netted approximately $1000. In addition the Board of the Square Dance convention was so pleased with the turn out and the added activity to their convention they donated $1000 to the rodeo. Thanks again
